THE TRANSFER PROCESS...DEFINED

Community College Transfer

- To complete the first two years of study at community college and transfer as a junior to finish the last two years at a 4 year institution.
- Called “upper division” transfer.
- Majority of public 4 year colleges require students to transfer as upper division transfers.
- Community College transfer process very different from high school.
 - Admission based on community college coursework only.
 - High school grades (a-g) and standardized tests (SAT/ACT) not used.

BASIC TRANSFER REQUIREMENTS

- Students need 60 transferable units
 - Courses numbered 300-499 in Los Rios
- Complete admission and general education courses
 - CSU's and UC's accept up to 70 units!
- Earn a transferable GPA* of
 - 2.0 (CSU)
 - 2.4 (UC)

PREPARING FOR THE MAJOR

- Commonly overlooked by students!
 - Students often believe they only need GE to transfer.
- Universities EXPECT major prep to be done!
 - This makes students competitive for admission AND will save time and money after transfer.
- Major requirements are often more important than GE.
 - Some majors have NO major prep; some have 55 or more units!
- Which major prep is needed? Check out: www.assist.org

TIPS FOR GRADUATING SENIORS

- Keep your math and English skills fresh your senior year.
 - You are placed where you assess at FLC
- Make sure to send AP/CLEP test scores to FLC once you have applied.
 - Credit by exam can give you college credit and exempt you from having to take specific college courses.
- Apply for financial aid – regardless if you think you will qualify!
- Start English and math as soon as you get to FLC!
 - Your major may require extensive levels of math, which can add to the length of time at community college.
- See a counselor regularly!
 - In college, you do not have an assigned counselor like in high school.
 - Your counselor will help you develop an education plan to meet your goals.
